

Boomer influx weighs down health system

Courier-Mail - 30 Sep 2005 Lachlan Heywood and Natalie Gregg

They are rich, overweight and living here in record numbers- meet Queensland's Baby Boomers.....

But a major study by the Australian Bureau of Statistics..... shows that while most of the one million baby boomers consider themselves healthy, more than half are overweight.

Premier Peter Beattie... said aging baby boomers would increasingly place pressure on the state's health system.